This viewpoint is located approximately 1km north of the northern end of Loch Laggan.

Heading south on the A86 from Laggan you will reach the shores of Loch Laggan on your left. Pass the large layby on your left

The road starts to bend sharp right and as it does, look out for the track entrance on your right. Turn right into here and park immediately on the left (you could park in the layby on the A86 but there is no walkway alongside the road on which to walk safely to the track entrance).

Now on foot, walk up the main track keeping on it as it bends sharply up to the left. At the fork in the track, keep left and continue upwards and straight past the turning that then appears on the left. Continue for another 580m where the track will start to drop slightly and the view ahead opens out.

The camera location is at the high point here before the track starts to drop down.

The images contained on this page and the following page are not representative of scale and distance from the actual viewpoint and show the wind farm development in its wider landscape context only.
For empirical testing, the wireline image on the next page can be accurately assessed in the field when converted to a transparency. If viewed with one eye at a distance of 300mm from exactly the same location and height as the original camera lens, the image will fit the real landscape cues.
